

Fiscal Brain Golden Demo Document

SYNTHETIC TEST CONTENT - NOT REAL BRAZILIAN LAW

This document is a deliberately fictional and synthetic demonstration material created for the Fiscal Brain end-to-end integration test. None of the rules, rates, or dates below represent any real Brazilian tax or administrative law.

For this synthetic demonstration, the fictional Taxa Aurora is due on March 15. Taxpayers must compute the base amount and pay the Taxa Aurora before this deadline.

The fictional exemption threshold for the Taxa Aurora is R$ 12,500. If the taxable base is equal to or below this amount, no Taxa Aurora is owed.

The fictional administrative appeal period is 17 days. A taxpayer who disagrees with an assessment must file an administrative appeal within 17 days of the assessment notice.

These values are deliberately fictional. They are used only to verify that Fiscal Brain can ingest, index, retrieve, and tutor from a real source document.

Unique facts for retrieval verification:

- Taxa Aurora due date: March 15
- Exemption threshold: R$ 12,500
- Administrative appeal period: 17 days

Fiscal Brain Golden Demo Document

SYNTHETIC TEST CONTENT - NOT REAL BRAZILIAN LAW

This second page repeats the synthetic facts to give the retrieval engine more context.

This document is a deliberately fictional and synthetic demonstration material created for the Fiscal Brain end-to-end integration test. None of the rules, rates, or dates below represent any real Brazilian tax or administrative law.

For this synthetic demonstration, the fictional Taxa Aurora is due on March 15. Taxpayers must compute the base amount and pay the Taxa Aurora before this deadline.

The fictional exemption threshold for the Taxa Aurora is R$ 12,500. If the taxable base is equal to or below this amount, no Taxa Aurora is owed.

The fictional administrative appeal period is 17 days. A taxpayer who disagrees with an assessment must file an administrative appeal within 17 days of the assessment notice.

These values are deliberately fictional. They are used only to verify that Fiscal Brain can ingest, index, retrieve, and tutor from a real source document.